News at JLS

JLS has acquired the rights to a High Speed Singulation System previously offered by Clay Cooper. JLS will be refining the design of this system and promoting it with its growing representative network. Clay Cooper remains involved with this offering on a consultative basis. This system was designed to handle a variety of products, but primarily is intended for food items including frozen foods, baked goods, and confectionary items. The singulator has a very compact foot print and is available in a wash down rating. For more information on this singulator, please download the .PDF available on the singulation portion of the website.
